CITES
CONVENTION ON INTERNATIONAL TRADE IN ENDANGERED SPECIES OF WILD FAUNA AND FLORA

Species which are threatened with extinction. Trade in these is rarely allowed, and only under exceptional circumstances.

Species which may become threatened if trade is not controlled. It also includes whole group of species which look like those listed in Appendix I and II.

The international trade in CITES-listed species is subject to specific regulation. Check with your CITES Management Authority for details. For domestic trade, please check your national legislation.
